

Losses Heavy In Vietnamese Troop Ambush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Heavy ground fighting continued across South Viet Nam today and government casualties for today and Thursday rose to at least 239 killed, missing or wounded.

Vietnamese troops were caught in two more Communist ambushes, one a followup action by the Reds to an earlier ambush near Lao Thien, about 150 miles northeast of Saigon.

Casualties in the first ambush of a six-vehicle convoy Thursday totaled 15 government troops killed, 15 wounded and 15 missing. Two armored cars were destroyed, two trucks damaged and two machine guns lost. Communist losses were not known.

Guerrillas Routed

A relief force sent in a few hours later was hit about seven miles northeast of the first action. The government losses in this engagement were nine killed and 14 wounded. Planes and artillery fire finally routed the guerrillas.

Another ambush occurred near Kontum, about 285 miles northeast of Saigon, where a six-truck convoy was on a food pickup mission. A military spokesman said first reports listed 12 Vietnamese killed and nine missing. There were no reports of Communist losses.

In the Mekong River delta, Vietnamese forces fought a day-long battle Thursday trying to bottle up strong guerrilla units at Cai Lay, about 50 miles southwest of Saigon.

Marines In Hot Fight

The Viet Cong, blasting back with 50-caliber machine guns, broke out of the envelopment but suffered heavy losses, a spokesman said.

Government losses were listed as 18 killed and 52 wounded, but the figure was expected to go higher when a fuller report is received. Twenty Viet Cong bodies were found, and trails of blood indicated the enemy casualties were much higher.

U.S. Marines beat off an attack by an estimated 50 guerrillas in a 15-minute skirmish near Le My, a Communist-infested string of hamlets about six miles northeast of the Da Nang air base. Two Marines were wounded and three guerrillas were known killed.

The battle was described as the hottest the 2nd Marine Battalion has taken part in since it arrived in Viet Nam April 10.

Russia Leading U.S. In Military Uses Of Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Government Operations Committee reported Thursday it thinks Russia is "substantially ahead of us" in military uses of space.

It urged that the United States give higher priority to military space needs, especially a manned orbital laboratory. Although the program was approved in 1963, the committee noted it has been confined to the study stage.

Soviets Invited To Join U.S. In Hunt For Peace

CHICAGO (AP)—President Johnson has told the people of the Soviet Union he wants them to withdraw support of aggression and subversion and join the United States in a common search for peace.

Appearing Thursday night before several thousand Cook County Democrats who paid $100 a plate to hear him deliver his first on-the-record speech to a political audience since the November election, Johnson said at the outset: "I do not believe this is an appropriate place tonight for partisanship."

Declaring that the peace of mankind transcends political considerations, Johnson said he had this message for the people of the Soviet Union: "There is no American interest in conflict with the Soviet people anywhere. And no true Soviet interest is going to be served by the support of aggression or subversion anywhere in the world."

"We of the United States of America stand ready tonight, as

McLouth Steel Signs Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers and McLouth Steel Corp. of Detroit, the nation's ninth largest steel producer, have signed a contract protecting McLouth from any Sept. 1 strike and guaranteeing its employees all benefits of an industry-wide settlement.

The union said the agreement, covering about 4,000 workers, contains breakthroughs in incentive and training and provides for plant-level contract matters. Steelworkers currently are working under a four-month extension while the 10 major producers, headed by U. S. Steel Corp., negotiate a new contract.

McLouth is the first major producer to sign a contract with the USW. Several others have signed agreements to follow the industry pattern. But these are bogged down by local grievances.

The McLouth contract provides new opportunities for workers displaced by automation, pays $450 toward trade-school training for any worker and adds 560 workers to the incentive program, bringing that total to 72 per cent against an industry-wide total of 66 per cent.

Author Burgess Slips Into Coma

HAMPDEN, Mass. (AP)—Ailing Thornton W. Burgess, who retired five years ago after a lifetime of writing about Peter Rabbit and other denizens of the Old Briar Patch, slipped into a coma today.

Burgess, 91, wrote 15,000 stories for children and books which sold more than 7½ million copies.

Suspect Held In Race Killing Near Bogalusa

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Ernest Ray McElveen, white man accused in the slaying of a Negro deputy sheriff, waived extradition in Mississippi today and agreed to return to Louisiana to face murder charges.

The Associated Press learned that McElveen, 41, a laboratory technician at the huge paper mill here, would be brought back to this southeast Louisiana city later today.

McElveen was stopped by a marshal at Tylertown—40 miles northwest of here—an hour after the Negro deputy was shot and killed by persons in a black pickup truck with a Confederate flag decal on its right front bumper.

This description of the truck fitted that of the truck McElveen was driving when stopped at Tylertown, officers said.

One source said authorities are convinced three men took part in the shooting.

State troopers, the FBI and local officers were deep in a massive investigation. Several men were believed involved in the killing.

Astronauts Set To Stay In Orbit Three More Days

Viet Nam War Must Be Won On The Ground

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says air strikes alone won't do the job and the war in Viet Nam will have to be won on the ground by South Vietnamese forces.

Humphrey said in an Associated Press interview he believes that South Vietnamese fighting units—given sufficient time—can subdue their Communist opponents.

He said he thinks the Viet Cong will call it quits once the Communists become convinced the United States is determined to stay to the end in South Viet Nam.

No Sudden Victory

Humphrey said that while a year or two ago he had deep concern over U.S. involvement in the area he now strongly supports the kind of action President Johnson has taken there.

"I'm still concerned, but I know what we're doing is what we have to do," he said.

Some questions and answers on Viet Nam:

Q. Do you really believe we can win there?

A. If we have the patience and the will and the determination, and if we seek no quick and easy answers and any sudden victories, I believe we can win. I think we'll have to win on the ground, and I think we'll have to win in South Viet Nam.

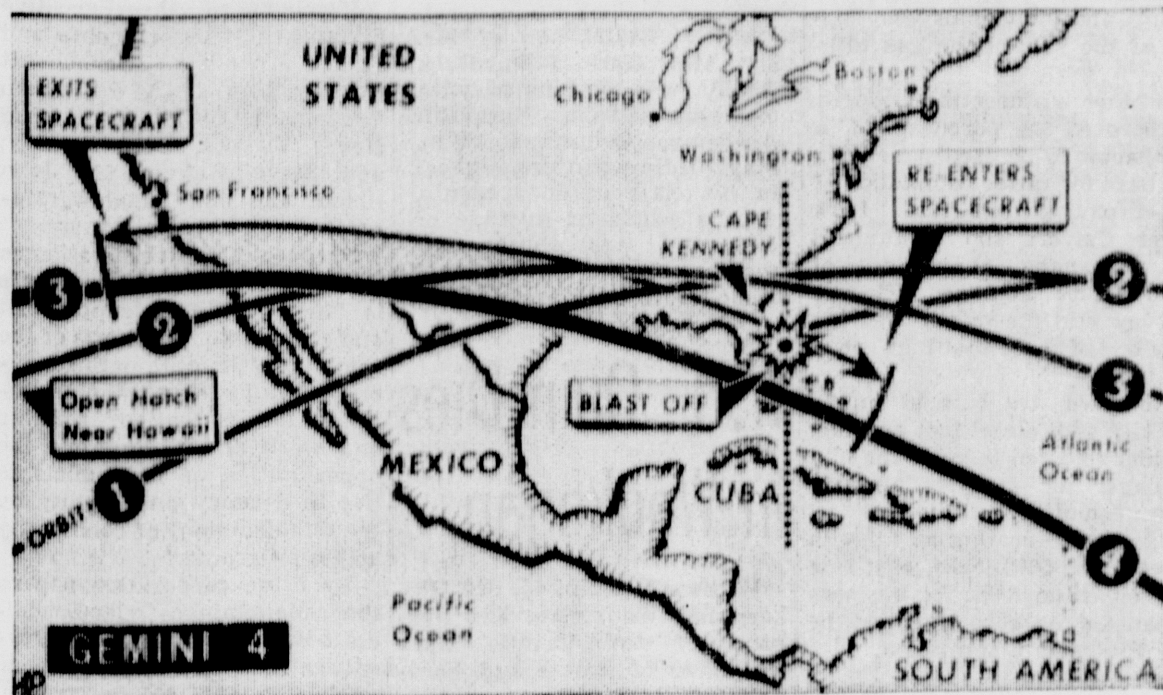

I think that the procedures which are being presently applied show the signs of success. There will be periods of time when it will look rather dismal, but as long as we remember that we're essentially an air power and a sea power, and as long as we maintain secure areas on the coast lines and start to expand that perimeter—seeking to pacify as the South Vietnamese and our forces move inland—I think that in due time, if we stick with it and do not expect too much in a hurry, that we definitely can win.

Bombing Helps

Q. You said we'd have to win on the ground. Do you mean win with our grand forces?

A. No, I mean that while I do support the bombing—I think this has been a necessary part of strengthening the morale of South Viet Nam and of stopping down and slowing down the flow of goods and manpower into South Viet Nam from North Viet Nam—that ultimately this conflict will have to be won in South Viet Nam. This is where you win this battle. And I'm convinced that we can win it in South Viet Nam, particularly if the South Vietnamese will show some degree of stability in their government and the willingness to make some concessions to the realities of this war.

The South Vietnamese are very patriotic; they're very brave. My goodness, when I think of the losses they've suffered, the incredible losses, and the terror that's been inflicted upon them, I'm amazed at their bravery and their stick-to-itiveness. I feel that if we never let them feel for a minute that there are any doubts as to our conviction and our determination to stay there, that given the time, the Viet Cong will call it quits.

Marines Get Out Of Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The U.S. Marines said goodbye to Santo Domingo today as President Johnson ordered the rest of them out.

Helicopters were airlifting the 2,100 leathernecks to the carrier Boxer offshore.

There was no indication whether the carrier and her escort would sail for other waters once the Marines were aboard.

Johnson announced in Chicago Thursday night that Brazilian Gen. Hugo Panasco Alvim, commander of the Inter-American Force in the Dominican Republic, had advised him "that conditions in the Dominican Republic now permit further reduction of our military personnel."

"I have accordingly ordered the withdrawal of all remaining units of the United States Marine Corps totaling approximately 2,100 men," the President said.

Departure of the Marines leaves 14,200 U.S. paratroopers serving with 1,500 Latin-American troops in the Inter-American Force.

Peace negotiators of the Organization of American States continued talks with rebel and junta leaders.

At U.N. headquarters in New York, Soviet Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko asked the Security Council to get the Inter-American Force out of the Dominican Republic and to investigate rebel charges that the junta has executed hundreds of rebel sympathizers.

U.S. Delegate Charles W. Yost replied that the council was not the place to discuss charges of violation of human rights. He said the Inter-American Force was helping the Dominicans and did not violate the U.N. Charter.

Beer Tax Cut Bill Blocked

LANSING (AP)—The House-approved $14 million annual cut in beer taxes virtually has no chance of getting out of the Senate Taxation Committee, an Associated Press poll of the committee shows.

And prospects aren't much better for the House's $50 million increase and revision of the business activities tax into a business income tax.

The two bills plus a $2 million real estate transfer levy comprised the House's brush with tax reform last week as it approved spending significantly beyond that asked by Gov. George Romney.

The Senate Taxation Committee under Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe, planned to meet today but to take no final action on the bills until next week.

The AP, however, found that not a single one of the six committee members plans now to vote for the beer tax reduction. And those with any disposition at all toward approving the business tax said it needed substantial overhaul.

Either measure would need four affirmative votes to reach the Senate floor.

Committee consensus on the beer levy is that while $6.60 a barrel may be unjust and inequitable, there simply isn't $14 million kicking around state coffers available for a reduction.

Senators Favor Adding Michigan Area To Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo's two Democratic state senators are thinking of putting before the legislature a proposal to add four square miles of territory to the State of Ohio.

Sens. Frazier Reams and Frank W. King think Toledo's "Lost Peninsula," now part of Michigan, should become part of Ohio.

Reams said he and King have prepared the necessary resolution, but want to talk with residents of the peninsula before moving ahead.

The resolution would seek creation of state commissions in Ohio and Michigan to try to work out an agreement. Congress then would be asked to change the boundary.

The two-mile wide and two-mile long peninsula does not touch Michigan. In order to reach it from Michigan one must drive through Toledo.

Straits Bridge Issue Revived

LANSING (AP)—A Wayne County Democrat has revived one of North Michigan's liveliest issues—reduction of tolls on the Mackinac Bridge.

The issue was revived Thursday when Rep. Richard A. Young, D-Deerborn Heights, amended a Senate bill covering oil and gas severance tax (a levy on the oil and gas taken out of the ground) to raise $500,000 a year and apply the money to the financing of the $100 million bridge.

Consideration of the amendment and the bill have been postponed until next Monday "to allow any opponents to prepare their ammunition," Young said.

His amendment would raise the tax on the market price of oil and gas produced from 2 per cent to 3 per cent and earmark one-third of all revenues—or the entire increase—to help pay off the bridge bonds.

"Just figuring roughly, I could reduce the toll by about $1," he added. Private automobiles now pay $3.75 each way to cross the span linking Michigan's two peninsulas. When the bridge is paid off, the extra revenues would be diverted into the general fund treasury.

Uniform Daylight Time Given O.K.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the House goes along with the Senate, all areas of the nation which use Daylight Saving Time will be required to start it and end it on the same days each year.

The bill which won voice-vote Senate passage Thursday designates 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April for the start of DST and 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October to end it.

But it would not require any area to adopt the fast-time schedule, and it carries no penalties for areas which fail to adhere to the effective dates.

A bore is a person who is here today and here tomorrow.

Walk In Space Is Picnic For Co-Pilot White

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Astronaut James McDivitt and Edward White whirled into the second day of their marathon space mission today, their spirits high and their flight plan back on schedule after some hectic early hours during which White strolled in space.

The Mission Control Center said everything appeared favorable for the Gemini 4 spacecraft to complete its full 97-hour, 50-minute mission.

If there are no hitches, America's longest manned space flight will end at 12:06 p.m. EST Monday with a parachute splashdown in the Atlantic Ocean 400 miles southwest of Bermuda.

Houston Spotted

During a pass over the Houston Control Center on the 14th orbit today, White told capsule communicator Virgil Grissom a few more details about his 20-minute excursion into space during orbit No. 3 Thursday.

White described as "vivid blue" the waters of the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean. He said he clearly saw Houston and Galveston Bay as he floated on the end of a golden lifeline more than 100 miles above the earth.

He said he even saw Clear Lake, about 3 miles long and 1½ miles wide, near the Houston homes of both astronauts.

White said the jet-gun maneuvering unit he used made it much easier to move about outside the capsule. When he wasn't using it, he said, he had difficulty getting around.

Satellite Elusive

White also said he had walked on the equipment section of the Gemini 4 during his excursion. "It looked like I was right on top of it," he said, "It's kinda hard to get traction."

Then Grissom passed on some news from home. He reported that the Hawks, a Pee-Wee League baseball team for which McDivitt's 8-year-old son Mike plays, defeated the Falcons, 3-2. McDivitt was asleep at the time the word was relayed.

John Hodge, the overnight flight director, told newsmen today that during the night McDivitt and White managed to get back on the original flight plan.

The plan had been disrupted during the first three orbits when McDivitt made a futile attempt to catch and rendezvous with another satellite—the burned-out third stage of the Titan 2 rocket that boosted them into orbit.

Both Sleep Well

After expending about 40 per cent of his fuel, McDivitt abandoned the effort. The chase contributed to a one-orbit delay in White's space excursion.

Hodge said that throughout the night, the Gemini 4 was allowed to drift on its orbital path without any expenditure of fuel.

Hodge said two orbit-changing maneuvers would be dropped from the flight and there would be some curtailment of scientific experiments that require spacecraft maneuvering.

He said McDivitt and White were getting used to sleeping in space after initial "tossing and turning" periods. Each slept well on their second four-hour slumber period, he reported.

"Now that we're back on a regular schedule," Hodge said, "we'll be able to start working out compatible, work, sleep and eat cycles for future long-duration flights."

Second Day Started

This is one of the major goals of the flight, along with gathering of medical data to determine how well the astronaut's withstand long exposure to the weightless world of space.

Gemini 4 began its second 24-hour period at 10:16 a.m. EST today. At 8:37 p.m. it will surpass Gordon Cooper's U.S. man-in-space record of 34 hours 20 minutes, established in May 1963.

Russian cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky holds the record of 119 hours 6 minutes.

White stayed alone in space for 20 minutes, double the time spent by a Soviet cosmonaut

Voter Response Pleases Council

Mayor George W. Rusch and the Escanaba City Council expressed appreciation to the people of the community for their support in Tuesday's election of the Council's recommendation for the sale of the municipal gas system.

Voters by a large majority approved the sale of the gas utility to Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., for $725,000. Mayor Rusch in a statement said in part:

"In some 10 years of effort to secure natural gas for this area the City of Escanaba was often discouraged and sometimes frustrated by postponement and delay. But these efforts by city officials past and present finally have won success, with the result that Escanaba and its neighbors will soon have this new fuel for use by its citizens and industries."

Reflects Faith
During the past 12 months the city conducted "an intensive study of the problems relating to the distribution of natural gas in Escanaba."

"The result was a unanimous recommendation by this Council that our municipal system should be sold to the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co."

There were difficulties, including attacks upon the "integrity, motive and judgment" of those advocating sale of the gas system.

"With considerable gratification we look upon the result of that election not only as a vote of confidence for this Council, city administration, William Chaney of Black & Veatch, and the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., but also as solid evidence that Escanaba citizens have faith in the form and process of government that the city has enjoyed in the past and will continue to receive."

"We turn now, with no desire or intention for recrimination, to what lies ahead for our citizens. What we are confident will happen, as the result of the good old American concept of competition for the business dollar, will be to the benefit of all consumers of all types of fuel, in the form of service and savings."

Okay Purchase

The statement read by Mayor Rusch concluded with an expression of appreciation to groups and individuals who supported the sale of the gas utility.

In other business the Council: Approved the purchase of a compactor to be used in settling the base for faster completion of street paving from the Bark River Culvert and Equipment Co., Escanaba, at a price of $8,250. City Manager George Harvey said the bidder was the only one of three that met specifications.

Received five bids to supply the city with diesel fuel and fuel oil and referred them to the city manager for analysis and recommendation.

Approved vacating an alley in the 400 and 500 blocks, east side of Stephenson Ave., for business expansion as recommended by the Planning Commission.

Three Counties Battle Poverty

A tri-county Community Action Committee to spearhead local efforts as part of the federal government's War on Poverty program was formed Thursday in a meeting of Delta, Schoolcraft and Menominee County representatives at the State Office Building.

The nine-member executive board of the newly formed corporation will meet tonight in the offices of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress to name officers and directors.

Members of the Executive Committee are Fred Hahne and Edwin Wuehle, Schoolcraft County; Don Crawford, Adam Sinclair, Dorothy Cavill and Henry Vitzke, Delta County; and Steve Kakuk Sr., John Reindl and Joe Sagataw, Menominee County.

Purpose of the corporation as stated in the corporation papers is "to strengthen, supplement and coordinate the efforts of the community in eliminating poverty by improving the opportunities for education, training and work and to improve the opportunities of individuals to live in decency and dignity by the establishment of community action programs."

By filing corporation papers, the Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft body thus becomes a "legal entity" and is eligible to apply for and receive federal funds to aid in the War on Poverty.

The executive board of the committee will work with UPAC representatives to submit a program development grant request to the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity before June 11 for financing during the present fiscal year.

Private Pension Funds Increased To $1.9 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The assets of private pension funds increased by $5.4 billion last year to $1.9 billion, even though they paid out $1.7 billion in benefits.

Figured at their present market value, however, the value of the funds reached $63.4 billion.

Most of the funds cover corporation employees and many are administered by unions.

The figures were contained in an annual report released Thursday night by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Group Debates Govt. Changes In Development

The Northern Great Lakes Resource Development Committee eyed prospect of a "Little Appalachia" Act for development of its area here today and debated the form in which it should organize to influence the project.

It appeared likely that the committee would act today after hearing Congressman Raymond Cleveland (D-Sault Ste. Marie) on the Washington outlook, to incorporate, with three districts represented by 7 persons each, as they are now in the temporary committee.

The area affected embraces 46 counties in Northern Michigan (15 of them in the Upper Peninsula) with a total population of 846,000; 19 counties in Northern Wisconsin with 323,000 population and 16 counties in Northern Minnesota with 481,000 population. The Michigan and Minnesota areas are alike in size and Wisconsin's is smaller.

Conference Result

The committee is an outgrowth of the September, 1963 Land and People Conference at Duluth sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. President Kennedy said at this conference that the Agriculture Department saw need for more recreation and not more farming in the three-state northern area to make use of its land and human resources.

In the follow-up action the Department of Agriculture's agency people picked rural leaders to discuss development programs and these leaders met at Iron Mountain in January, 1964 to organize and start a study and action program.

Rev. Carl Staser of East Lansing, a Michigan delegate, said that the committee had talked a good deal but not done much and it now faces a problem of association with the Department of Agriculture when the Department of Commerce seems about to start its own ball game in the area.

Highway Program

Chairman Harvey Wolter of Eagle River, Wis., said that any committee reorganization move should permit continued use of the agencies of the Agriculture Department and the Cooperative Extension Service which are active in the area, but should leave the door open for other public or private support.

The Appalachia development bill carried an appropriation of $1.1 billion and when Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) attempted to attach a rider to finance a Little Appalachia plan for the Northern Great Lakes Area, the White House asked him to send in a separate bill later, which it would support.

Of the Appalachia billion, $800 million went for highways and it is expected that eventual aid for the Lake States area will accent road building. This will bring a contest within the Resource Development Committee, conference discussions indicated, with Michigan pushing for an east-west scenic highway across the Upper Peninsula and with Wisconsin and Minnesota more concerned about highway building that will bring up to their recreation areas people from the populous area to the south.

Tourism Stressed

Rev. Staser suggested desirability of dividing Michigan into Upper Peninsula and Lower Peninsula sections and thus making four instead of three districts in the area. This did not find general favor nor did suggestions that more populous areas should have more representatives in the reorganized council.

The committee heard expressions from the three states on possibilities for resource development, with heavy accent on recreation.

John Wernham, supervisor of the Ottawa National Forest in the western Upper Peninsula, urged the acquisition of the 18,000 acre Sylvania Tract of virgin woodlands and lakes in Gogebic County to add to the 865,000 acres in the Ottawa as a recreational jewel.

Louis Twardzik, Michigan State University tourism specialist, said the Lake States should invest to stimulate recreation industry leadership at the local and state level just as they had done to develop agriculture.

Dr. Uel Blank, MSU economist, said that the North needs more than nature for tourism, must have some recreational developments to keep pace with attractions offered by its competitors, the Southern states, Canada, Europe, the Smokies, etc. He said many U. P. areas had lost tourist volume since 1959.

Records Made By Band, Choir

The Escanaba Area High School music departments — band and choir — have preserved the highlights of an outstanding musical year on record.

Tapes, which were recorded in special sessions at the high school, are currently being edited by a recording engineer for the Century Record Co., Saugus, Calif.

The completed records, with album, will be available for distribution at the high school late this month.

The choir record will be the second produced under the direction of Conrad Beck, the first being made in 1959. The band record will be a first for the high school band and director John Chown.

Included on the choir record are numbers from this year's concert program and two from previous choir years. Also on the record are three madrigals, two from this year and one from 1961, the year the group was invited to sing on the University of Michigan campus for the Midwestern Conference on School Music.

Betty Hansen, outstanding student soprano, will be heard singing "Un Bel Di" by Puccini, her award winning performance for the 1964 Upper Peninsula Solo and Ensemble festival.

The band's feature selection is "1812 Overture" by Peter Tchaikovsky. The second side of the band record includes numbers from the spring concert by both Varsity and Concert bands.

Beck said a limited number of records will be made for distribution and anyone interested in ordering either the band or choir record may call the high school music department.

Pirate TV Will Broadcast From Ship Off Britain

LONDON (AP) — A pirate television station reportedly backed by wealthy Americans plans to begin broadcasting this summer from a ship in the English Channel on a wavelength the British government has restricted to space research.

A spokesman for the operating company, Radex TV, said the station will beam commercial TV programs and radio broadcasts to London and Southern England.

Jim De Gray, 28-year-old Radex executive, said the company is registered in the Bahamas and is backed by wealthy Americans.

Six pirate radio stations are broadcasting to Britain from waters outside the territorial limits.

Presenting America's slowest fastback.

There are some new cars around with very streamlined roofs.

But they are not Volkswagens. They are called fastbacks, and some of them are named after fish.

You can tell them from Volkswagens because a VW won't go over 72 mph. (Even though the speedometer shows a wildly optimistic top speed of 90.)

So you can easily break almost any speed law in the country in a VW.

And you can cruise right past gas stations, repair shops and tire stores.

The VW engine may not be the fastest, but it's among the most advanced. It's made of magnesium alloy (one step better than aluminum). And it's so well machined you may never add oil between changes.

The VW engine is cooled by air, so it can never freeze up or boil over.

It won't have anything to do with water.

So we saw no reason to name it after a fish.

Delta Museum Gives History New Approach

By CLINT DUNATHAN

A modern interpretative approach to an old subject — the history of Delta County and its people—is being received with appreciation by visitors to the Delta County Historical Museum in Ludington Park.

"People say they like it," said Mrs. Charles Norton, Gladstone Rte. 1, the Museum director for the Delta County Historical Society.

The correlation of materials into exhibits designed to better inform visitors regarding the history of the area, and interpret the lives and work of the people of an earlier day, has been the responsibility of a committee headed by Frank Bender Jr. of Soo Hill. The project included some interior remodeling and redecorating accomplished with the cooperation of the City of Escanaba.

Open Daily

The Museum is open daily from 2 to 5 p. m. and will be open evening hours later in the season as attendance increases.

Mrs. Norton will open the Museum additional hours for the convenience of student groups and teachers. For example, on Tuesday next week Roger Herson, Junior High School 7th grade teacher of English and social studies, will bring a couple of student groups to the Museum in the morning and afternoon.

The students will see, among thousands of items of historical interest, the tools that their grandfathers—and grandmothers also—used in their daily lives 50 to 100 years ago. Molds in which candles were made tell their mute story of a flickering glow that lighted the way toward modern lamps.

In an earlier day, long before TV, folks sat in the parlor viewing an amazing three-dimensional picture world through the magic of the stereopticon. Students visiting the Museum will perhaps be amazed to know that visual stereo for groups still eludes modern inventors.

Cultural Past
For adults, there was "culture" in the early days that challenged their attention. A handbill in the Museum, now preserved in a frame on the wall, reports that:

"Lecture: There will be a lecture at Royce's Hall on Tuesday evening, April 8th, 1879, in reply to Prof. B. F. Underwood of Boston, the Athens of America. Subject—Christianity, versus Fidelity. As Mr. Underwood had to be paid, there will be an admission fee of 10 cents. Both ladies and gentlemen are most cordially invited."

Another form of culture that brought wider appreciation of music was the record—but far different than today's high-fi stereo product.

A recent gift to the Museum is several old cylinder phonograph records from Mrs. Melvin Hansen of 1015 Sheridan Road, said Mrs. Norton. They require a special type machine for playing and Museum does not have one.

Talking Machine

The titles of the records are interesting: "Silent Night, Holy Night" in German, and Jones and Murray singing "Dear Old Yankee Land" to mention two. Mrs. Hansen said the records were found between the walls of a house that was being razed in north Escanaba.

Another gift that has been accepted is a "talking machine", offered to the Museum by Mr. and Mrs. Sy Martin of Gladstone Rte. 1.

The materials assembled in the Museum through the years includes a considerable amount of historical data on file from Delta County communities. This material is frequently requested by researchers, and for the past couple days Mrs. Wilbur Goodman of Masonville, a teacher, has examined the file on the history of the Rapid River Schools in preparing a paper on a study project.

Casual visitors, students, teachers—each will find at the Museum something of interest among the thousands of items in the dozens of exhibits.

Board OK's Sale Of Tech School

The Escanaba Area Board of Education at a special meeting Thursday night approved sale of the Catherine Bonifas Technical School building to Don Marvic, local hotel owner, subject to the condition that Marvic negotiate a lease for its occupancy by the State Highway Dept.

A 30-day option to purchase the property at 1601 Ludington St. was extended to Marvic. Price would be $12,500.

The action was taken by a 4-2 vote of the Board, trustees Clara Mosenfelder and Kenneth Buckland opposing.

Voting in favor of granting an option to Marvic were Dr. Vernon Johnson, president, and trustees Carlton Olsen, Jack Manning and Dr. William Hemmes.

Roland Collins, who was out of town, did not attend the meeting.

"I can't see giving away a building on Main Street for that price when we are short of space ourselves," said Mrs. Mosenfelder.

"I think we are making a mistake by not advertising for bids," Buckland added.

Favor Sale

Supporters of the sale argued that the building, which has not been occupied by the school system since the move into the new high school three years ago, was offered for bids a year ago with no takers.

"It's not doing anyone any good just sitting there," said Olsen. "Each year it deteriorates a little bit more."

Backers of the sale also contended that the building is not suitable for use by the school district and that by selling to Marvic with the stipulation that it be leased to the Highway Dept., the Board of Education was helping to keep the department in Escanaba.

It was also pointed out that sale of the building to a private owner will immediately place the building back on the tax rolls and provide both the city and the school district with additional income each year.

Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett said that while the building might be remodeled for office space, the cost to the school district would be prohibitive.

Second Offer

The offer by Marvic to purchase the building, which was given to the school district in 1940 by Katherine Bonifas, was

Street, Sewer Projects Get Council Okay

A capital improvement program totaling an estimated $291,240 — largely street and alley improvements and sewer and water extensions — received Council approval after a hearing of objections to assessments at a meeting of the Council Thursday night.

City Manager George Harvey said the city's share of the program is an estimated $153,550. The remainder will be raised by special assessments paid by the property owners who will benefit from the improvement.

There were objections raised by property owners to two projects:

The improvement of Lake Shore Drive from Sylvan Point to 14th Ave. S.; and the extension of a sanitary sewer on 12th Ave. S. from 23rd St. east to the golf course.

Sought By Petition

The Lake Shore Drive improvement is a major project of the program. One property owner told the Council that he has an agreement of about 30 years ago with the State Highway Department which affects his participation in the cost of the improvement, and a couple others said they thought just patching would be sufficient.

The objections to the sewer on 12th Ave. S. were because of the front street location of the sewer line. The city does not have an alley right of way in the area, which is as yet unplatted.

Majority of the property owners, however, have petitioned for the improvements on those and other projects and the Council adopted the ordinance establishing the assessments.

The work will be a part of the 1965-66 capital improvement program and will be done by the public works crews under the supervision of Kenneth Tushak, public works superintendent.

The city manager said the Pascoe project is fully in compliance with city zoning laws and building code.

Council approved an expenditure of $6,000 in an arrangement for a land exchange with the Department of Conservation, so the City can obtain full title to a 12-lot area south of the Athletic Field between 22nd and 23rd Aves. S. The Planning Commission has recommended that the City acquire the property.

A communication was received by the Council from the Chamber of Commerce citing the need for a community auditorium and recreation facility.

The city manager reported to the Council on plans to seek the cooperation of the state in having the City participate in construction of a new exhibition building at the State Fairgrounds. This building would provide space for a variety of uses ranging from shows and exhibits to recreational programs and could be utilized by the public throughout the year.

The Council adopted a resolution addressed to state and federal legislative representatives asking action toward solution of a policy program that has caused federal funds to be withheld from some Michigan road jobs. The cause is the conflict between state and federal policy over billboard encroachment on public highways.

Roadside Scenery

There may be a few persons with political bias who wish that Lady Bird Johnson had fallen out of the nest in some crisis, but in her current role of national goddess of highway beauty she ought to qualify as America's sweetheart.

The Johnsons in their days in the White House have spilled apples from the social cart all over Washington and all over the nation, but nothing that they have done has evoked such a happy and spontaneous response as Mrs. Johnson's championship of natural beauty in America.

There was the automatic response from the tea rose growers, and the Audubon groups, the garden greenery graduates and the other Isn't Nature Wonderful Bunds, but there was also a calm and sincere Amen from millions of Americans who are ashamed of what we have done to our beautiful land.

Mrs. Johnson dramatized her husband's campaign with a bus tour with cabinet wives to seek out beauty and blotches on beauty. There was a White House Conference on Natural Beauty to remind the capital and the nation that man can control his environment and needn't live in squalor. The junkyard owners got such a blast that in the public reaction some sensible persons felt the need of reminding Americans that the junkyards serve a purpose. This brought the immediate rejoinder that the purpose need not be a cinder in the public eye.

They say that honesty cannot be legislated and we'd wager that esthetic values cannot be legislated, either, but desecrators of highway beauty can be punished if the law so ordains and Harvard Law Professor Charles Haar answered a plea for the utility of auto junkyards with "The only way to clean up these places is through strong legislation: voluntary actions on the part of junkyard owners are few and far between."

Behind the theatrics of the campaign the President stood resolute in his determination to really do something about the lousing up of America's roadsides, which has attained such proportions that visitors wonder how a nation so keen and cultured can tolerate such a sty in the eye.

The President has asked for four new laws to clean up roadsides by making it impossible for states to get federal highway aid after 1970 unless they remove billboards within 1,000 feet of highways. He's also asked for a similar law against junkyards, requiring that they be at least 1,000 feet from the road before a state can get federal aid; or that they be screened.

All of these happenings in far-off Washington have more than passing interest in the Upper Peninsula, which is currently without a summer highway construction and maintenance program because the Michigan State Supreme Court has ruled that the State Highway Department acted under an unconstitutional law in removing signs from highway right-of-way in order to comply with federal road aid regulations.

The Upper Peninsula's tourist businesses have been very annoyed with the Highway Department's insistence in clearing the roads of private signs, despite the Department's pleas that it must avoid encroachments to assure federal aid, and despite its plea that tourists are repelled by sign-cluttered highways.

We do not suggest that persons with a protest against government action forego legal action because it may throw hundreds of men out of work and stymie a summer construction program. The support of principles is often troublesome and costly, but imperative.

A good case can be made, however, that Michigan has bumbled along too long with its highway signing controversy. A governor's conference on the subject, calling in representatives of the public, of the affected highway businessmen and of the government agencies involved should be able to come up with a program which would reconcile some of the differences, educate on the subject, and fix a policy which would restore and preserve highway attraction and not destroy the highway businesses.

Our Upper Michigan Tourist Association has been loyally on the side of its tourist enterprises, but it seems to us that it would be better employed as an intermediary. Tourism has as big a stake in clean roadsides as does the public. The Highway Department has an obligation to be helpful to the businesses serving the highway traveler as well as the esthete.

We have delayed and jeopardized an important summer highway construction season by a silly squabble that reveals a breakdown of effective government. The partisans cannot be expected to settle it quickly so a third force is needed to set a policy.

The Doctor Says:

Disease Without Gallstones

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q — Is it possible to have a diseased gall bladder without having gall stones? Two years ago I had an exploratory operation and was found to have adhesions around my gall bladder. Nothing was removed. I still have a pain in my right side.

A — Acute inflammation of the gall bladder may occur in the absence of gall stones but this is relatively rare (about 10 per cent). Some other cause for your pain should be sought. Although the pain of colitis usually shifts from one side to the other some forms of colitis cause pain only on the right side. The pain of appendicitis is usually on the right side but this is not a chronic disease. Because there are many causes for abdominal pain and since the cause is often hard to determine, a specialist in diseases of the digestive tract should be consulted.

Q — X rays show that I have a nonfunctioning gall bladder. Will I always have nausea and indigestion from it? What is the treatment?

A — When, after a fatty test meal, X rays show that the gall bladder does not empty itself it is said to be non-functioning. You should avoid all fats, alcoholic beverages and opiates. If you do this and your symptoms persist for more than 10 days your doctor should look for some cause other than your gall bladder. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Q — Is it true that people with gall stones pass them occasionally?

A — Small gall stones often pass through the common bile duct into the intestinal tract without causing any symptoms. Larger stones stretch the bile duct and cause severe pains. Once they get through the duct they cause no more trouble but, since a gall bladder often contains dozens of stones, more attacks of colic can be expected. Such a gall bladder should be removed.

Q — What is erythremic myelosis? Is it serious?

A — Erythremic myelosis is a severe anemia that does not respond to treatment. Leukemia is a frequent complication.

Q — My mother's toes went numb about a year ago. The doctor couldn't find any pulse in either leg. A painful infection and gangrene has developed in the toes but my mother doesn't want them amputated. Can anything else be done to help her?

A — When the circulation to the toes is severely impaired gangrene with or without infection is inevitable. When this occurs amputation is the only satisfactory treatment.

Slightly on the Short Side

Letters To The Press Computer Pairs MSU Couples

Contributions are welcome. They cannot be over 300 words and must be signed with name, address and phone number of writer and names will be used. The right to condense letters is reserved.

SEQUOIA SEMIPRIVIRIS
This letter is not intended as editorial reaction, nor as a slur to any one.

I fully agree with most things said in the May 28 editorial covering some aspects of California's Coast Redwood and the situation as it now stands.

There are many among us (too many) who would have large areas of virgin timberland become national parks. The original proposal of such for our Grand Marais hardwood being a case in point.

However, there are millions of Americans as well as would be travelers who would like to see a redwood national park become a reality. The upper reaches of Redwood Creek in northern Calif. almost an entire watershed covered with virgin redwoods and fir can still be had, such would comprise about 20 thousand acres.

Its true redwood can be cut and made into wood fiber long before it matures into commercial lumber. Also, much cut-over redwood land is now being re-seeded to fir, by airplane.

Most of us have read of the "World's Tallest Tree." It's a redwood 14 feet in diameter at breast height and about 368 feet tall. Said by experts to be less than 500 years old, this tree will grow for at least 1000 years yet if left uncut and spared by the elements. The following is my only reaction to part of the May 28 editorial.

What we old dropouts know (or even think) is not important. I fully realize a newspaper editor is a versatile man or woman. People in this position come under much criticism from the readers. An editor, no doubt, does some thinking before his comments hit the street.

However, school children should never be told such as, "a redwood matures not in a 1000 but in less than 100 years."

Well do I remember my old school teachers, and I shall always respect and love them. They weren't always right. But, they were the forerunners of an educational system that has undergone many changes in the past half century. Pray that this system continues to turn out youngsters who will abide by the little quotation we have here.

"It is the primary purpose of education to produce not only great intellects, but above all else responsible citizens for our nation and also for export to the other nations of the world."

EAST LANSING (AP) — A computer decided last fall that Paul Nelson and Sandra Titus would make a good couple.

Pretty soon, they decided the same thing. They were married March 20.

The computer paired up the two for a Michigan State University computer dance. It noted similar family backgrounds.

It also noted that both were interested in business and were conservative politically and that neither drinks nor smokes.

The computer probably couldn't have known it, but they look enough alike that they often are thought to be brother and sister.

"I didn't really expect to meet anyone special at the dance. I just thought it would be fun," said Mrs. Nelson, a senior from Lansing.

The idea of a computer picking out dates for the dance was "something new. I thought I might as well try it," said her husband, a senior from Buffalo, N.Y.

Nelson, a business major, and his wife, a retailing major, now live in MSU married student housing.

Race Policy Hit

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The inevitable grinding on of powerful, urbanizing economic forces is perhaps the greatest enemy today of South Africa's controversial policy of racial separation (apartheid).

The constant critical battering from disapproving nations may have had more effect in producing modifications of that policy than the South African government cares to acknowledge.

But what really threatens the fulfillment of apartheid is, ironically, South Africa's amazing economic growth.

In 1964 the country's gross national product bounded upward 11 per cent over 1963. This sharply heightened industrial manpower needs in booming Johannesburg, Cape Town, Durban and other key cities.

It made of them greater magnets than ever for the majority black population, large elements of which already cluster in and about these centers.

Movement of rural people toward the big cities has marked the expansion of industrial societies nearly everywhere. South Africa is proving no exception.

Yet the whole thrust of the country's apartheid policy is toward slowing, halting and eventually reversing this enormous economic tide.

For the real goal of that policy is not to enforce racial segregation as we in the United States understand it from the South's efforts. The objective is to build wholly distinct "black reserves" which will be both economically viable and politically self-governing—even independent, if they wish.

The reserves have long existed as distinctively black "homelands," and today hold upward of 4 million of South Africa's 11 million Bantu blacks.

But the government of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd aims ultimately at drawing back to these reserves a great proportion of the other 7 million blacks—about half of whom now live in Johannesburg and the other cities.

To achieve that end, the government is mounting an ambitious program of economic decentralization intended to create new "centers of attraction" for employable blacks who are either in the reserve areas now or might be lured back from the white-controlled big cities.

Some of this development is going into so-called "border industries" placed outside the black zones but near enough to draw black labor on a daily commuting basis. The government says at least 25 such industries have been set up since early 1961. There is one complex of six plants at Rosslyn near Pretoria.

Insofar as the decentralization program involves establishing industry within the Bantu reserves themselves, the road seems incredibly long.

It is as if a developed industrial nation, "White South Africa," were undertaking to lift up several underdeveloped nations—all within its own borders.

H. L. T. Taswell, South Africa's ambassador to the United States, insisted in interviews that this "reverse tide" program is not faltering—as one report from Johannesburg asserted.

He declares that substantial financial commitment in various development and investment corporations is proof of the government's unwavering intent. Black leaders in the Transkei, the one already-self-governing Bantu reserve on South Africa's east coast, are said to be counting heavily on the promises made.

"If we tried to abandon this policy now," says Taswell, "I could only see trouble ahead."

Yet the variety of problems involved in this colossal attempt to make racial separation workable is so great that skeptics continue to argue that the whole program must surely fall of its own weight.

A following report will examine the question further.

Hardtop Leads In Auto Sales

By CHARLES C. CAIN

AP Business News Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The four-door sedan, perennial leader in new car sales, has yielded the No. 1 spot to the two-door hardtop this year.

That was substantiated by a survey of auto buying habits made by the trade publication, Ward's Automotive Reports.

It showed that of the initial 5,277,000 new 1965 model cars sold up to April 1, about 1,817,405 or 34 per cent of the sales were two-door hardtops.

The four-door sedan, which had led in sales for 20 years, was in the runner-up spot with 30.6 per cent of the market. No. 3 in demand was the four door hardtop at 11.3 per cent, followed by 10.8 per cent for the station wagon, 7.5 per cent for the two-door sedan and 5.4 per cent for convertibles.

In most cases the flashy two-door hardtop sells for about $150 more than the four door sedans.

The Mustang-Barracuda-Marlin-Corvette fastbacks are the strongest selling group of two-door hardtops as they account for about 19 per cent of the market.

Other entries in the field include the Chevrolet Impala Super Sports coupe, the luxurious Chevrolet Caprice, the Galaxie 500 LTD's, the Plymouth Sports Fury, Thunderbird, Valiant Signet, Pontiac Grand Prix, Buick Riviera, Oldsmobile Starfire and Dart GT.

The four-door hardtop continued to make sales gains, however, and the combination of two and four door hardtops accounted for 45.7 per cent of the industry's '65 model sales to date.

Sending the public interest in hardtops, General Motors reportedly will introduce a four-door version of its intermediate size Tempest, Special and F-85 commencing with the 1966 model year. Thunderbird reportedly will do likewise with its 1967 run.

Doctor Population Is Up Slightly

CHICAGO (AP) — Despite addition of fewer physicians to the medical ranks last year than in 1963, the nation's doctor population at the start of this year was up slightly, to 284,271 licensed physicians.

The current Journal of the American Medical Association reported physicians newly licensed last year totaled 7,911 compared with 8,283 in 1963.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Ann Landers Successful Man Credits Nagging

Dear Ann Landers: Every now and then you print a letter proving that behind every successful man is a plucky, game little woman. I'm a man who has succeeded in the asphalt jungle and you are right.

My wife must be credited with a tremendous contribution to my success because she drove me out of the house with her nagging, criticizing, and complaining. The office was infinitely more quiet and peaceful — and I enjoyed my work, so I became a 15-hour-a-day man, six or seven days a week. When a man puts in that kind of time, over a period of years, he's GOT to amount to something.

I hope you will print this letter so my wife can see it. I want her to get the credit she deserves. — CUSTOM MADE SHIRTS

Dear Custom Made: It's generous of you to want to give your wife all the credit. But I think you deserve some credit, too — not only for your smashing success in business, but also for your miserable failure at home.

Some men who don't want to go home don't want to stay at work either, so they go scouting for trouble and they find it. Presumably you avoided this trap. So what do you want from me — a medal?

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me if you think our 12-year-old boy is eating too much. Last night Louis had three helpings of chicken, three helpings of mashed potatoes, two pieces of apple pie and two glasses of milk. He would have taken a third glass of milk if I had said OK. My husband does not eat nearly so much as this boy and neither does our 14-year-old son.

Yesterday Louis came home from a scout hike and told me he ate three hamburgers and drank three bottles of pop. He boasted "Even the scout master didn't eat that much." Does this sound like a problem? — A mother.

Dear Mother: Yes. It sounds like a boy who can't get attention through acceptable channels. Some kids would eat a dishrag dipped in vinegar to capture an audience.

When you make a point that Louis eats more than his father and older brother it suggests that he is overeating to show off. His braggadocio about outeating the scoutmaster is additional evidence.

Take the boy to a physician and let him decide if Louis should be on a diet. And stop talking about how much he eats.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old girl who lives at home and attends junior college. Last week I was dialing a friend and got a wrong number. The party on the line was pleasant, cultured and interesting. This may sound crazy but I couldn't bring myself to hang up so we talked. He said he is 24, single and gainfully employed. We are of the same religious faith although I am a regular and he is not. We have similar interests in art, books and records.

He asked for my name and number so he could call me. I refused but agree to call HIM again. We've had five conversations and I am so fascinated with his voice that I can't wait until we speak again. To be honest, Ann, I'm dying to meet the fellow. Yes or no? — ANNA-BELLA

Dear Annabella: Since you are both of the same religious faith, an ideal place to meet is in church.

If he declines the invitation disconnect him permanently. And congratulations for being smart enough NOT to give him your name and number.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FLOOR PLANS: There's plenty of flexibility here, with either one or two bedrooms on the first floor, and for families who need it, an upstairs area that accommodates three bedrooms, a split bathroom and plenty of storage space.

PENNSYLVANIA FARM HOUSE COLONIAL: That's the charm and maintenance features which families have come to expect these days.

Farmhouse Colonial Type

INVITING DEN: This main-floor extra room, furnished here as a den, is directly off the bedroom hall and so can be used as a bedroom if desired.

By ANDY LANG

The enchantment of the old Pennsylvania Farmhouse Colonial has been captured in the latest House of the Week. Details characteristic of this type of architecture have been incorporated into the exterior design. The stone facade with wood shingles and vertical board-and-batten sidewalls add warmth. The smaller dormers with diamond-paned windows, the front entrance door with batten boards and a curved head, the strap hinges and the bow window all provide the touches which give this kind of house its eye-appealing individuality.

A dwelling that seems to belong to a surrounding of rolling countryside, Design H-84 by Herman H. York nevertheless has the sophistication required for a suburban residence. This is especially true on the inside, completely modern in layout with a flexibility that permits it to be used as a two-to-five bedroom house.

For the small family, the first floor is a complete home. Note how the den has been deliberately located to provide access from either the foyer or from the same hall that services the main bedroom. This makes it possible to use the den for reading, study, a regular second bedroom or a guest room. The large split bathroom has twin lavatories, with the water closet and tub in a separate compartment.

For the larger family, the plans call for three bedrooms and another split bathroom on the second floor, which is reached by an open-railling stairway in the large foyer. The upstairs plumbing is located over the downstairs bathroom for economy in installation. There is ample storage space under the eaves.

The bow window we previously mentioned is at the front of the living room. Placement of the fireplace at the far end of the room insures a good furniture arrangement. The dining room, at the rear of the house, has an attractive bay window.

There are 200 square feet of efficient space in the kitchen. Sliding glass doors, nine feet wide, overlook the rear terrace. A double sink under the window gives the housewife visual control of the rear yard.

In the adjoining laundry, there is space for a washer, dryer and laundry tub, with wall-hung cupboards above. There is a closet-type pantry between the kitchen and garage, a broom closet near the service area, a mud closet or clean-up section at the back door and a lavatory with a window.

The garage is large enough for three generous storage areas as well as two autos. Directly to the rear of the garage is a huge garden storage space, making it unnecessary to clutter the garage with power equipment or other garden tools. The garage, which has front entrance for autos, can be entered on foot either from the rear or the side leading into the service area of the house itself.

A full cellar is provided, with an inside stair and an optional outside door. Such access from the cellar to the exterior decreases traffic through the house, making for less maintenance and greater convenience.

The habitable area of this Pennsylvania Farmhouse Colonial is 1594 square feet on the first floor. Those who decide to finish off the second floor, either at the time of the original construction or later, gain an additional 763 square feet.

Either way, there's good living built into this design.

H-84 STATISTICS

Design H-84 has a living room with a fireplace, a dining room, a kitchen, a bedroom, a den (or extra bedroom), a laundry room, a large foyer, a terrace, two-car garage and garden storage space on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1594 square feet. Those finishing the second floor according to the plans will have three bedrooms, a split bathroom and 763 additional square feet of living area. The overall dimensions, which include the garage, are 76' 8" by 34' 4".

Newspaper want ads are a big sell! Eight hundred million was spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all television spot announcements or radio advertising.

Ghosts Leave Jackson Home

JACKSON (AP) — When Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lincoln moved out of their nationally famous little home here, their poltergeists apparently did, too.

At any rate the new owners of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beauchamp, say they haven't noticed any of the seemingly supernatural incidents which beset the house three years ago.

Poltergeists are known to enthusiasts of the supernatural as ghosts who make their presence known through gravity-defying, mysterious pranks.

In 1962, the Lincolns reported dishes and bottles flying across their rooms, moans coming from the empty basement, heavy footsteps with no observable cause, doors swinging open and water and gas being turned on for no explainable reason.

But that was some time ago. Today, apparently, the spirits have fled.

"We've had no disturbances and heard no noises," says Mrs. Beauchamp.

One night, she says, the lights of the house began flashing off and on, but faulty wiring was found to be the fault.

Even the tourists who still flock through the little house are unable to provoke the poltergeists into action, she adds.

"We love it here," Mrs. Beauchamp said recently. "I wouldn't move for anything — not even if the ghosts came back."

Life manages to exist even in the minute drops of water that constitute fog. Diatoms, single-celled organisms, have been found inside the droplets.

Injury Benefits Law Is Signed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney signed an expanded workmen's compensation law Thursday that makes Michigan benefits the highest among major industrial states.

"This act will be viewed in future years as a major executive-legislative accomplishment of 1965," said Romney.

The bill increases maximum weekly benefits for injured workers from a scale of $33-$57 to $58-$91 effective Sept. 1. The maximums will further rise to $61-$92 and $64-$93 each of the two following years.

Democrats had pushed for higher maximums but Romney held out for levels he said would avoid discouraging business from entering or expanding in Michigan.

The bill also:

- Removes the 500-week limitation on benefits.
- Provides for vocational rehabilitation services.
- Expands coverage to private employers of one or more employees.
- Removes the $10,500 limitation on benefits paid to silicosis victims.

Charles Lungerhausen

Lungerhausen Is Valedictorian In Leelanau Rites

GLENN ARBOR, Mich. — Charles Cody Lungerhausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Lungerhausen of Hermansville, is valedictorian of the 1965 graduating class of the college preparatory Leelanau Schools here, which held their commencement exercises today.

In his address Lungerhausen said "I feel that the only thing which will solve our world problems is an education for everyone — not just an education in reading, writing and arithmetic, but also an education on how to get along with people and how to meet their needs."

Lungerhausen was president of the National Honor Society at Leelanau this year. He made the Dean's List three times and the honor roll three times and won a letter in basketball. He was awarded the Leelanau Cup for the ideal all-around Leelanau Boy and won academic honors in language. He plans to attend Michigan Tech.

State Hospital Head To Retire

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Philip Brown, medical superintendent of Northville State Hospital, will retire July 10 after 30 years with the State Department of Mental Health.

The announcement was made jointly Wednesday by Brown and Dr. Robert Kimmich, department director. Kimmich said a replacement has not yet been selected.

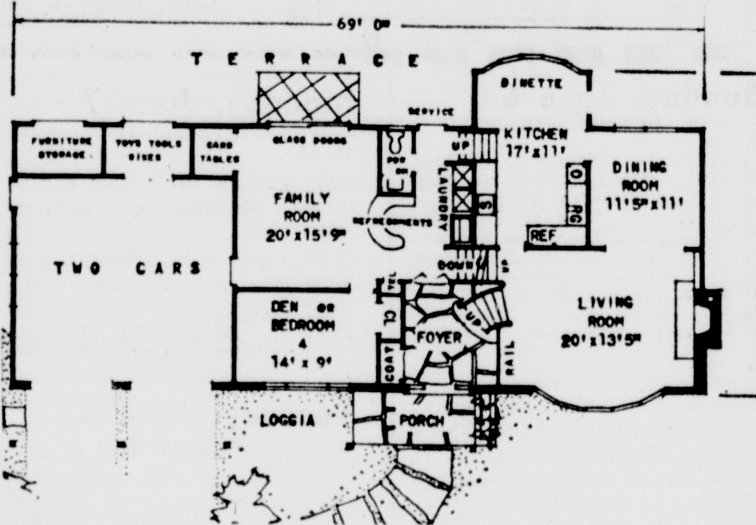

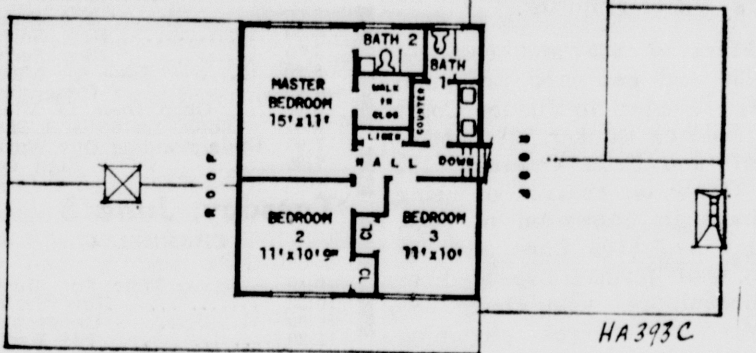

Brown has been superintendent of the 2,200-bed hospital since it was opened in 1951. He has been with the Department of Mental Health since he first took a residency at Ypsilanti State Hospital in 1935.

Canada's written constitution is known as the British North American Act.

Will This Boom Lead To A Bust?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Could the 1929 crash happen again? Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin sees today's boom psychology as having "disquieting similarities" with that of the 1920s.

But the Johnson administration holds that there's small likelihood of a repeat performance — if the Federal Reserve, business and labor all will cooperate with government in keeping the economy on a one-way street to prosperity.

This doctrine is called the new economics. It contends that the business cycle can be licked, or at least tamed, and that 1929 need never happen again.

Traders Worried The Martin rattling of old memories sent shivers through U.S. stock markets Tuesday and the London stock market Wednesday.

Stock traders were alarmed that the smoldering dispute between administration economists and the money managers was coming out into the open.

They also were aware that it was just three years ago that the stock market had its worst crash since 1929. It revived and prices early this May were at record highs. The very height of these prices makes some observers dizzy.

Businessmen are more inclined to concentrate on the evidence of continuing strength of the four-year-old economic upswing. They stress the brakes on booms and the cushions for downturns that have been developed since the 1929 crash.

Bankers study the clash in economic and monetary thinking in Washington to glean clues as to the future course of interest rates and the recently noted trend toward tighter money and credit. The trends — and the clash, if it becomes sharper — can affect both the course of the domestic economy and the troubled international monetary situation.

There are a number of things that make 1965 look like 1929. But even Martin concedes there are many differences, too.

Panic Unlikely The similarities: In both 1929 and 1965 government and business leaders were convinced that prosperity would last forever.

er and that the business cycle was old hat. This belief was strengthened in both instances by a long period of economic growth. In both years private debt was growing rapidly. In both years the money supply was expanding.

But 1965 is different from 1929 in many ways: Excesses of the stock market, of banking and credit are under close supervision now, while in 1929 the sky was the limit. Wages have kept pace with corporate profits. And there is now a vastly expanded middle class with higher incomes and impressive liquid assets — as well as debts. Wholesale prices are fairly stable now, while in 1929 they were declining.

Business expansion of capacity now is being tailored much closer to consumer demands. Social Security, unemployment benefits, dozens of government projects insure against the disastrous drop in private income that the 1929 crash triggered.

And, as the 1962 stock market crash showed, generally prosperity isn't as closely tied to the market as it was in 1929. The stock market still has great psychological hold on the public. But the public now takes the ups and downs of the market without panicking.

Jobless Rate Drops In May

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today that the unemployment rate dropped in May to the lowest level since late 1957.

Johnson, jumping the gun on a Labor Department announcement scheduled for later in the day, said the unemployment rate fell from 4.9 per cent in April to 4.6 per cent in May. He said this was the lowest rate in 91 months.

The President, addressing a group of businessmen and labor union officials who have pioneered in finding summer jobs for young people, said unemployment fell by 220,000 between April and May, to total of 3,300,000. He said the decline in the number of jobless was triple the drop that usually is recorded at this time of year.

On the employment front, Johnson said 1.3 million more Americans went to work in May, bringing total employment to 72.4 million.

Schedule

Saturday—4:30 — Eagles at Kiwanis; 6:00—Bankers at Rotary

Monday — Credit Union at V. F. W.

Tuesday—Bankers at Lions

Wednesday—Kiwanis at Eagles

Thursday—V. F. W. at Credit Union

An early season favorite V. F. W. team, on the strong arm of Doug Howard, is off to a fast start as they racked up three wins in the first week of the Escanaba Jaycee Little League play. Howard picked up two of the wins, 1 to 0 over Cliff Arntzen of the Bankers in the season's opener and a mid-week 4 to 2 decision over Eagles.

Meanwhile other veteran league hurlers were having tough going as Dennis Lueneberg and Tom Raeder lost a pair and the 1964 top winner Dave Moberg lost his first start 4 to 2 to Don LeMire and the Lions.

Hampered by injuries, another early season favorite, the Eagles, become cellar dwellers as their ace Raeder was the victim of a 2 to 1 loss at the hands of Rotary's Tom Kangas before bowing to Howard. Rookie Bill Skradski of the Bankers made his first start an impressive one as he stopped Rotary 4 to 3. Ten year old Bob Klieman looked impressive last night as he beat the Credit Union 4 to 1 to give the Lions their second win of the season.

At 4:30 Saturday, the Eagles meet Kiwanis with one team due to vacate the cellar, while the 6 o'clock nightcap will probably see Tom Kangas and Cliff Arntzen face off as the Bankers or Rotary make a move toward second place.

Mets Stop Pirates; Own Longest String

By The Associated Press

Who's got the longest winning streak in the National League? Why, the New York Mets, winners of 3½ games in a row. The Mets, unbeaten in four games including a tie with the Chicago Cubs last Monday, replaced Pittsburgh as the team with the longest current winning streak by knocking off the Pirates 8-6 Thursday night and ending their string of successes at 12.

But it was that kind of night. Sandy Koufax started for the Los Angeles Dodgers and wound up one of nine shell-shocked pitchers as the Dodgers finally whipped St. Louis 11-10 and boosted their first-place edge to five games — longest of the season.

Meanwhile, hardly anyone was looking as the Milwaukee Braves crept into second place, downing San Francisco 10-3 despite being held hitless after the third inning.

In the only other game scheduled, Houston defeated Cincinnati 8-3.

American League action was limited to one game with Minnesota edging Boston 4-3.

At Pittsburgh, the Mets would have added 10 years to Casey Stengel's age if he weren't already 74.

They scored two runs in the third inning, then exploded for six more in the fourth as Ed Kranepool and Joe Christopher each drove in a pair. With an 8-0 lead it looked easy, and it was until the eighth inning when Galen Cisco started to play ricochet with the Pirate bats. Roberto Clemente tripled. Willie Stargell homered. Exit Cisco. Enter Larry Miller. Three singles, another run, another Met pitcher, Tom Parsons. Parsons held Jim Pagliaroni to a sacrifice fly and Jerry Lynch to a two-run homer, the 17th pinch-hit shot of his carr. Parsons got out of the six-run inning and then retired the side 1-2-3 in the ninth.

Koufax never got past the third inning at St. Louis as the Cardinals pulled out to a 7-3 lead. But there were a few hits still to come. There were 29 in all, 15 by the Dodgers.

After four innings the score was tied 7-7, but the Cardinals pulled ahead in the fifth when Bob Skinner smacked a pinch-hit two-run homer and Julian Javier followed with his first homer of the season.

Then it was the Dodgers turn again. They scored one in the seventh and pulled out front to stay in the eighth when pinch hitter Wes Parker doubled and scored on Jim Gilliam's single before Ron Fairly put the finishing touches on with a two-run homer off the right-field villain roof.

The Braves jammed all their hits and runs into the first three innings, erupting for nine runs in the third — the biggest inning in the majors this season.

Bob Shaw was the victim of the uprising as winning pitcher Ken Johnson, Mack Jones and Eddie Mathews each drove in two runs in the inning. Mathews did his damage with a two-run homer — the 10th and last hit for the Braves, handcuffed the rest of the way by Bill Hands and Bob Bolin.

Things were a little more routine at Cincinnati, where Rusty Staub drove in four runs for the Astros with a homer and a sacrifice fly.

Don Nottebart got the victory with relief help from Hal Woodeshick, who came on after Deron Johnson hit a homer for the Reds in the ninth. Woodeshick ended it by getting Tommy Harper to hit into a double play.

Pro Football Will Expand

NEW YORK (AP) — Now the pro football expansion race is on.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced he has recommended the National Football League add two teams for a total of 16 by 1967.

Informed of the announcement by The Associated Press, Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League said the AFL might do it sooner, perhaps putting two new teams on the field by 1966.

Then they started ticking off potential expansion targets. Between the two of them they covered most of the major cities in the United States and Canada, including some in the rival league.

In a Thursday night news conference, Rozelle named 12 "major cities which have expressed an interest in an NFL franchise."

They are Montreal, Toronto, Boston, Miami, Atlanta, New Orleans, Cincinnati, Houston, Memphis, Phoenix, Seattle and Portland.

When it was pointed out that Boston and Houston already had teams in the rival AFL, Rozelle said:

"I have not given extensive thought to that. I have no feelings about those cities in particular."

But Foss had some particular feelings.

"There's plenty of room for both of us," said the commissioner of the five-year-old, eight-team league. "There are any number of cities that can support pro football and any number that can support two teams."

Then he ticked off his list: Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Atlanta, New Orleans, Miami, Columbus and Dayton, Ohio, Portland, Louisville, Memphis, Seattle, Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia and Los Angeles all have teams in the 45-year-old NFL and Milwaukee supports the Green Bay Packers, some 60 miles away.

At present, only New York has a team in each league and a two-team trial in Dallas didn't work out, with the AFL team moving to Kansas City. Both leagues are now armed with millions of dollars in television money and are looking for new markets.

Air-Conditioned Holes For Sale

By W. JOYNS MACFARLAN WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to buy a concrete-lined, 160-foot-deep hole in the ground, complete with air-conditioned living quarters and elevator?

Well, this month the General Services Administration expects to offer for sale perhaps as many as 148 missile silos, some of them equipped with large underground living quarters.

The silos cost the government about $1.5 billion, or from around $12 million to $25 million each.

From the standpoint of cost and number of similar installations involved, the disposal effort will be the largest yet for GSA, which is the government's housekeeping agency.

Investment In Security
The GSA has an inventory of surplus government real and personal property for sale that numbers about 350 items ranging from a cast-iron water pipe, old post offices and abandoned lighthouses to a nuclear reactor, including a nuclear reactor, and a complete high-energy fuel plant. The acquisition cost was about $750 million.

"What the government paid and what we will get (for the silos) will bear no relationship," said Howard Greenberg, commissioner of the GSA's utilization and disposal service.

"This was an investment in national security—national safety."

But Greenberg and Walter C. Moreland, GSA assistant commissioner for real property, made it clear in a joint interview that every effort will be made to get the greatest possible return.

Because of the nature of the disposal problem, GSA published an unusual advertisement in March to alert possible civilian purchasers that the silos are going to be for sale.

And even earlier, when the Defense Department determined that the silos rapidly were being rendered obsolete because of advances in the missile field, both the Defense Department and GSA began canvassing to see if there was any other government use for the silos.

All Over Country

The Defense Department has notified the armed services committees of Congress of its intention to declare up to 148 of its 149 silos as excess to its needs, although it intends to remove certain equipment from them, the GSA officials said.

The silos are located all over the country, from Spokane, Wash., to Abilene, Tex., and from Plattsburgh, N.Y., to Marysville, Calif.

Moreland said there have been many evidences of interest in obtaining the silos and said every effort will be made to sell them as packages, including their surrounding equipment.

One inquiry came from a community contemplating a silo and the surrounding acreage in which it is located for an installation for housing juvenile delinquents, with the silo's power plant providing electricity for the institution.

Some state and local Civil Defense agencies are exploring the possibility of use of the silos for fallout shelters and for storage of emergency supplies.

The event is being sponsored by the Delta County Ministerial Association and people of all faiths are invited to attend.

Clergymen taking part in the service are Rev. Bruce Brown, First Methodist Church; The Rev. Ben Helmer, Rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, The Rev. Douglas Seleen, Pastor of First United Presbyterian Church, The Rev. Gordon Thorpe, Pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church, The Rev.

Bridge Traffic For May Record

ST. IGNACE—The long Memorial Day weekend was responsible for another month of record breaking traffic across the Mackinac Bridge, according to Prentiss M. Brown, Bridge Authority chairman.

The weekend holiday traffic was second only to May of 1958, but traffic and revenues for the month were best for any May since the bridge was opened. Vehicle crossings totaled 87,631, up 10.9 per cent from 77,993 of May, 1964. Revenues were $392,385, up 10 per cent from $356,693 of the comparable month a year ago.

During the first five months of 1965, 220,478 vehicles crossed over the bridge, an increase of 6.3 per cent over the 207,438 crossings the first five months of last year. Revenues for the comparable periods were $1,041,031 and $983,837 respectively, an increase of 5.8 per cent. May truck traffic was up 3.3 per cent, and 2.5 per cent for the first five months.

College Offers Refresher Work

Refresher courses are scheduled as the principal activity this summer at Bay de Noc Community College, said President Richard Rinehart.

Students who wish to complete high school may use these courses upon the approval of the high school, and some of these students together with other high school students, are taking classes for high school credit in fields that are not part of their own high school program. Reading Improvement and Writing Improvement are especially designed for people of all ages who wish to advance their skills in these fields. These may be used also for high school credit, he explained.

"Chemistry, Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry are also available. These will involve the use of programmed materials, so that the enrollee can work at his own rate of speed and cover as much ground as possible. This technique of instruction, with supervision rather than lectures, enables the course to be taught for as few students as need the information," Rinehart reported.

The Chemistry course involves laboratory work and will be offered only if 12 or more students enroll, and will be held from 8-11 a.m., from June 14 to Aug. 7.

All of the other refresher courses will merely require that the student work at the learning center on his own material for the hours necessary in his own situation. The learning center will be open from 8-12 on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7-10 p.m.

Another community service activity will be Speech Correction Work. This will involve the testing and analysis of speech problems for children, students or adults, followed by supervised corrective work and exercises supervised by Miss Leona Dougherty, Speech Pathologist, American Speech and Hearing Association.

A minimum of 64 hours of supervised corrective action, with the assistance of college students studying Speech Correction, will be required—the total amount of time over 64 hours will be dependent upon the individual. A fee will be charged and a maximum of 30 individuals will be accepted.

Walk In Space Is Picnic For Co-Pilot White

last March, and had to be coaxed back into the capsule by McDivitt, who followed peremptory commands barked into space from mission control in Houston.

"We've got 3½ days to go, buddy," McDivitt told White, after a sharp nudge from mission control.

"I'm coming," White said reluctantly.

As he eased back into the capsule, he added: "It's the saddest moment of my life."

The launch went off flawlessly Thursday after a 1-hour, 16-minute delay, but there was a measure of disappointment. McDivitt's plan to pull within a few feet of the tumbling second stage Titan 2 rocket was canceled. Too much fuel had been used in chasing the abandoned booster, itself an orbiting satellite.

Space Gun Works
Space officials had hoped the rendezvous maneuver would give the space pilots the vital experience needed for the moon trip the United States hopes to make by 1970.

But the crowd pleaser Thursday was the space stroll when White, linked to the capsule by a slim golden leash, cavorted in the void eight minutes longer than planned.

Dr. Charles Berry, the astronauts' physician, told a news conference White was not disoriented while outside the spacecraft, as his Soviet predecessor had been.

"He even walked on the spacecraft," Dr. Berry said. "Ed was all over the Gemini 4 under, behind and on top of it." The astronaut propelled himself about space with a special space gun.

NO RAZORS
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Space pioneers Edward H. White III and James A. McDivitt could come back from their four-day space journey looking like a pair of Western pioneers.

There are no razors aboard the Gemini 4, and when the two spacemen splash down in the Atlantic Ocean Monday they may have a bad case of five o'clock shadow.

"Hair is no problem," Dr. W. W. Kemmerer Jr., head of the Manned Spacecraft Center's microbiology division said. "We can't see the added weight a razor would place on the spacecraft."

To keep hands and face clean, small wet tabs placed in special plastic containers are available for use after each meal.

Forest Service Assigns Fulk To Bessemer

Thomas A. Fulk, member of the timber management staff at the Hiawatha National forest's headquarters in Escanaba, has been named Bessemer district ranger for the Ottawa National forest.

He succeeds James L. Kimball, who is being transferred June 20 to Cass Lake, Minn., where he will be director of a job corps conservation center.

Marquette-Alger Form EOA Board

Citizens of Marquette and Alger counties Thursday night established a bi-county Economic Opportunity Act Board to carry out local projects under the "War on Poverty" program.

Forty-four persons from the two counties were named to the board and nine of them were elected to an executive committee.

"The board will administer probably about a quarter of a million dollars in programs during its first year of existence," said Dr. E. V. Bowden, Escanaba, executive director of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress (UPCAP), which is providing technical assistance to counties forming EOA boards.

The meeting was the first of six that will be held in the Upper Peninsula to organize EOA boards involving all 15 U.P. counties.

Dr. Bowden explained that the new EOA board will be empowered to hire a full-time director.

Church Unity First Methodist W.S.C.S. Topic

"One Church-One Witness" was the topic during the meeting of the Woman's Society of the First Methodist Church Thursday afternoon.

"One church-one witness is a greater reality today than at any time in history, with leadership in theological thought, policy-making, music and artistic interpretation of Christianity coming more and more from areas outside the western world. This trend gives fresh evidence of the vitality of the church at work in the world, sharing its Christian faith," Mrs. J. Bruce Brown, speaker, said.

Sharing Faith
As an example of the growing acceptance of the responsibility of sharing the Christian faith, the speaker cited Dr. and Mrs. Ulises Hernandez who recently were commissioned missionaries at Pachuca, Mexico, and assigned to work in Ecuador. They are the first Methodist missionaries sent out by a Latin American country.

In closing, the speaker stated, "As one tree with many branches, the church transcends the difference of official structure and organization, and exists as a living organism united and nourished by faith in one Lord Jesus Christ. It continues as the church only as it maintains this relationship to its life-source."

Mrs. Edward Edick was the devotional leader for the afternoon.

Circle Rotation
During the business meeting, the members of the two afternoon circles were rotated as follows:

Circle 1, Mesdames Donald Ness, Luther Barrett, Christine Christian, Floyd Bryers, Aubrey Berg, Gotthard Gustafson, R. J. Smith, Ed. Erickson, Ray Shaw, Nettie Seidl, M. J. Kucera, Fredric Welch, Lee Hendricks, E. G. Bennett, Roy Olson, Silas McMartin, Harvey Germanson, Emery Snyder and John McKay.

Circle 2, Mesdames Dorson Owens, Otto Schmidt, Alvin Ness, Peter Jaeger, John Nicholas, Ed Miller, Frances VanHorn, John Birkenmeier, Katherine Williams, Charles Hammar, John Bartlett, S. D. Robinson, Edmund Hengesh, Con Anderson, Henry Bathke, Gertrude Robinson and Edward Anderson, Miss Mable Bowers and Miss Laura Brown.

Hostesses were members of the Miriam-Abigail Circle.
